About the course

As an employer, you are required by law to protect your employees for harm. The NEBOSH HSE Award in Managing Risks and Risk Assessment at Work qualification is ideal for anyone involved in managing workplace health and safety risks, including those who undertake workplace assessments. The content is particularly useful to employers, managers, supervisors, union representatives, SHE Champions and health and safety representatives.

It is ideal for anyone involved in managing workplace risks, those that undertake risk assessments and are looking for a flexible way of learning with immediate access to the course. It is structured around the Health and Safety Executive's approach to controlling risks caused by workplace hazards. Upskill your teams so that they carry out risk assessments in the right way and to the right standard.

Course syllabus

Upon successful completion of this course, learners should have an understanding:

- Why manage health and safety risks
- Managing risk: identifying, understanding and controlling the risks
- Managing risk: sources of information and the application of HSE risk assessment tools.

Assessment

A practical assessment is completed at the end of the course. You will be asked to watch a video of a real workplace and complete a risk assessment to identify how you would manage and prioritise.

You will usually receive your results within 24 working days of sitting the assessment. Provided you are successful, a certificate is sent usually within 40 working days of your result.
